COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS DEPARTMENTS

The advantages of choosing a strong bank are recognized by every business man. In the realm of commercial banking the Bank of Commerce and Trust Company has won the accounts of an exceptionally large proportion of San Diego's most prominent and substantial mercantile concerns. In addition, its Savings department is a notable convenience. Here many business and professional men find it advantageous to keep a personal account, with checking privilege, earning 3%.

Thus the element of Profit is added to those of Convenience and Safety in respect to the personal bank account. Note that the 3% is paid on personal accounts only, in the Savings Department.

Term deposits earn 4%, compounded half-yearly. New accounts are solicited, and inquiries in regard to any department of banking activity are cordially invited.

The Occasion

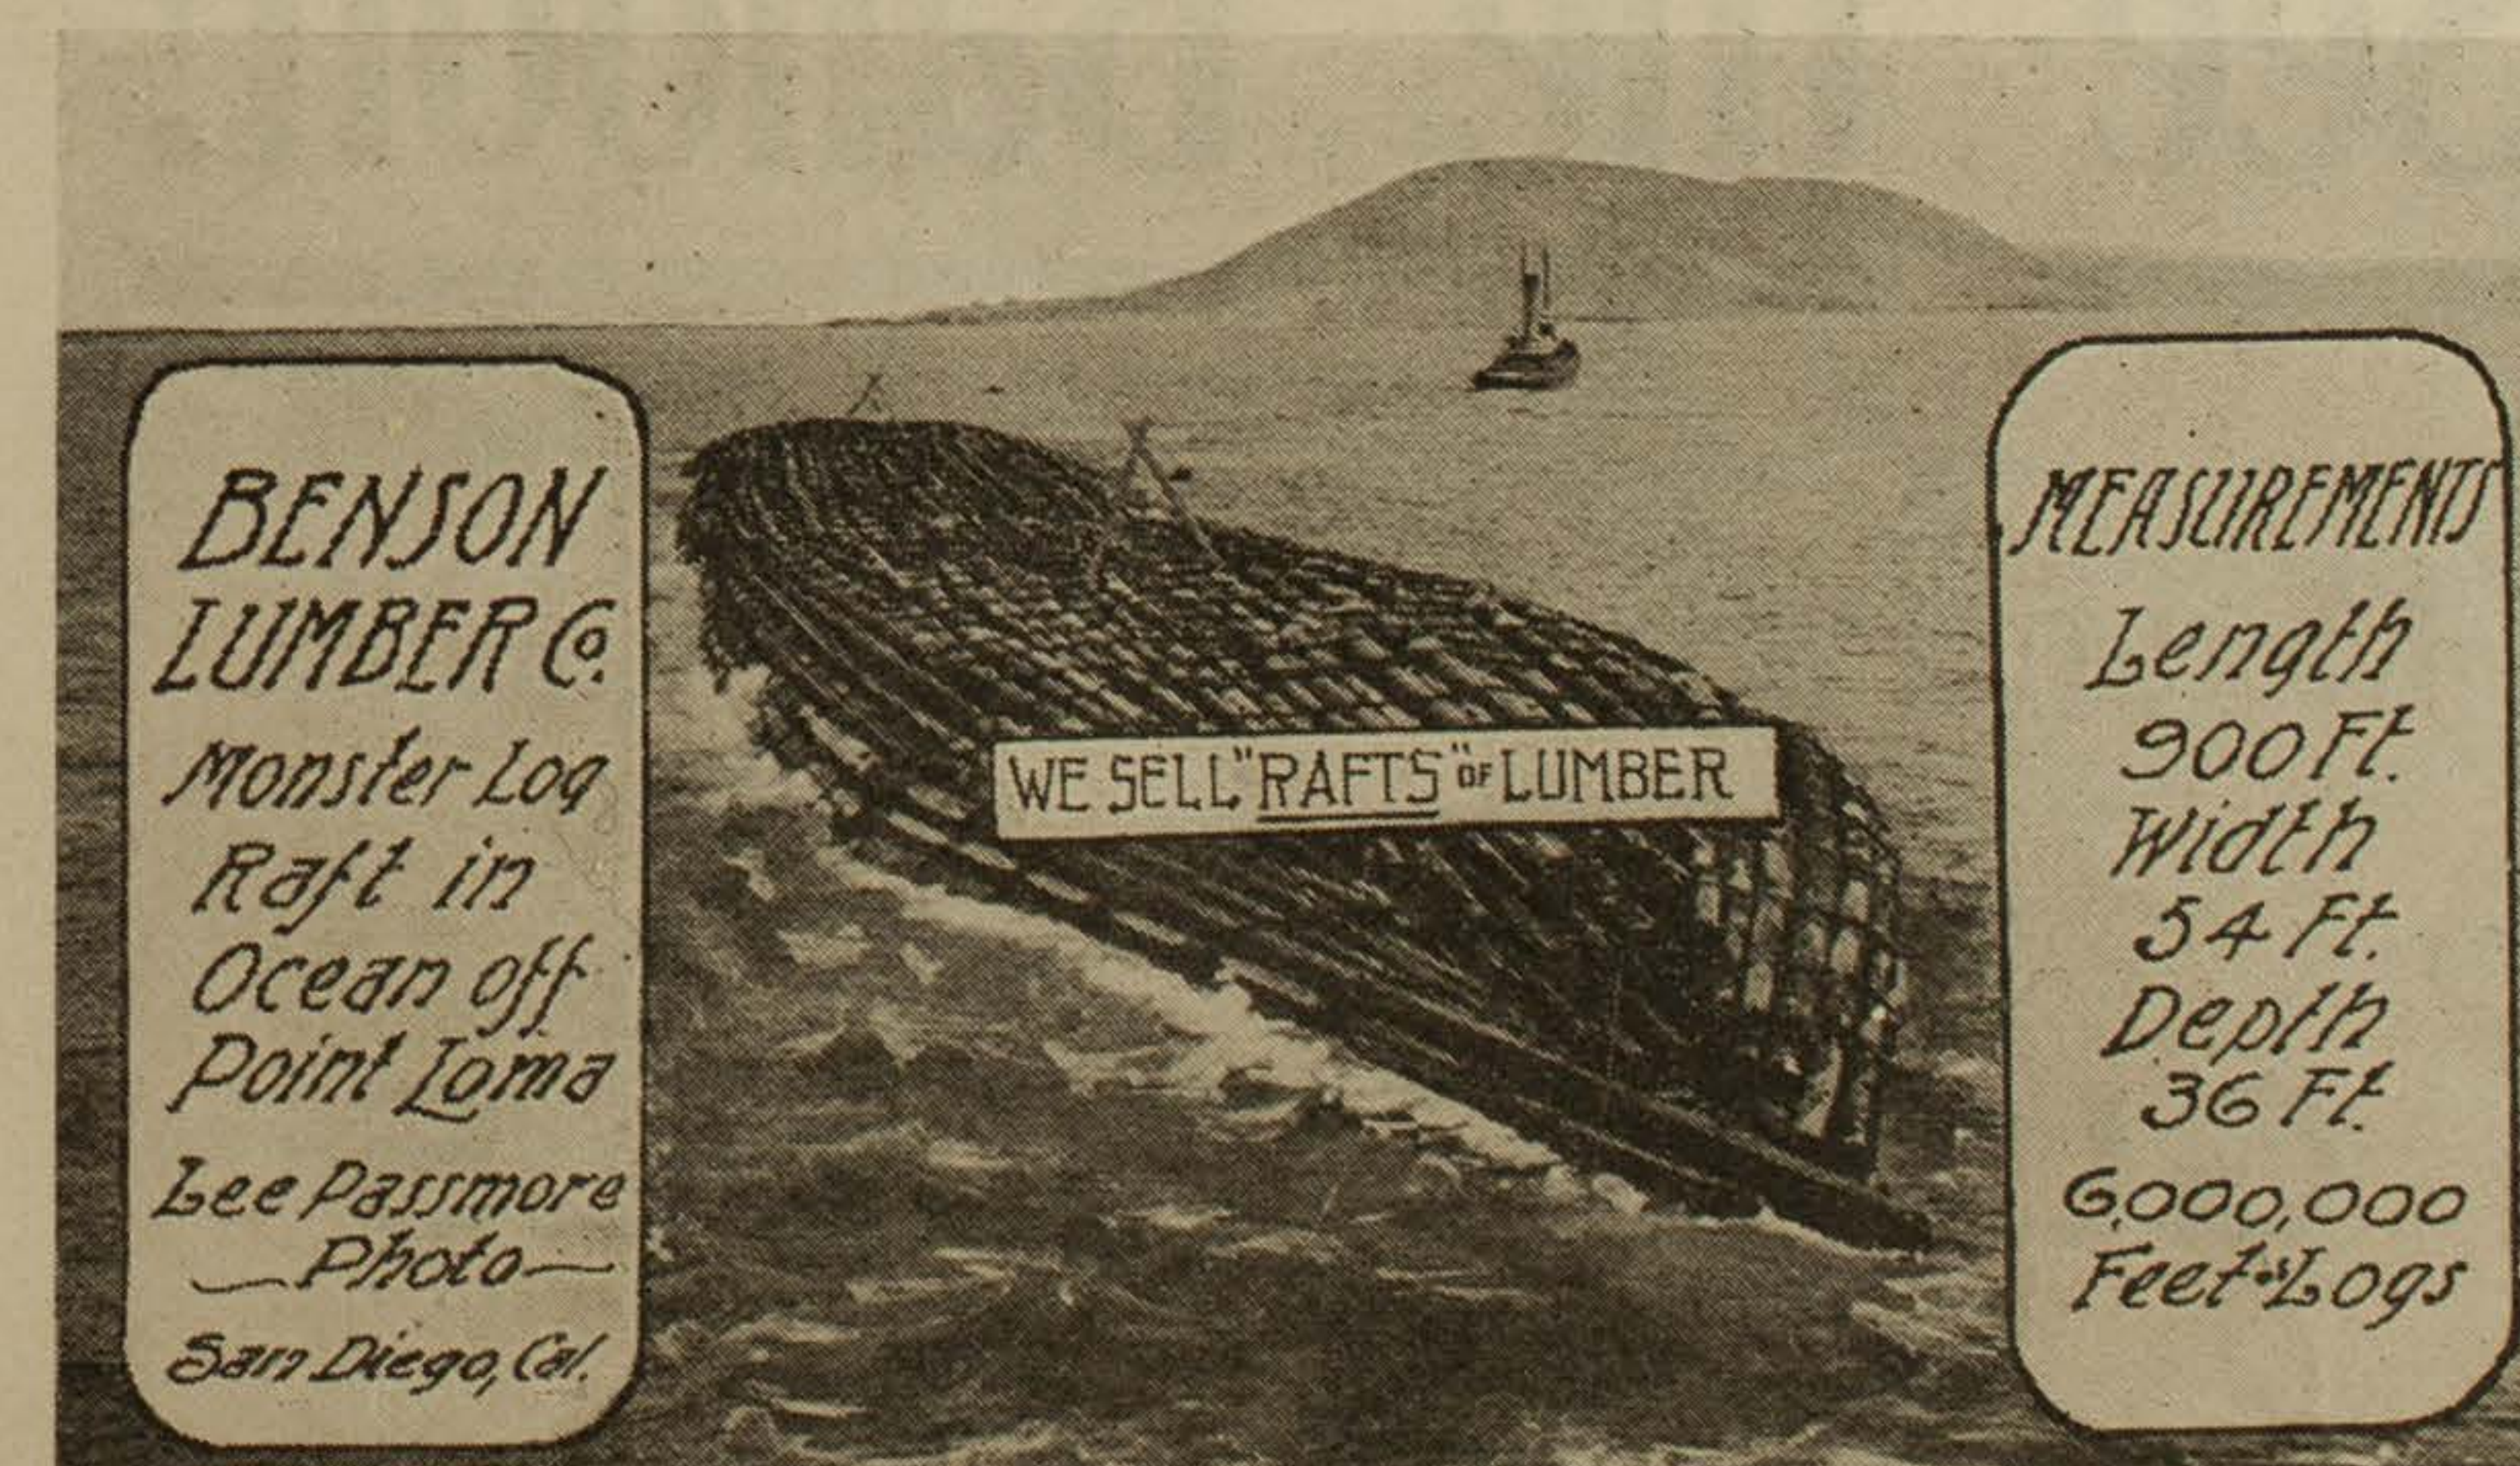

A great enterprise is worthy of an adequate beginning.

The Panama-California Exposition will open January 1, 1915.

It will close at midnight of December 31, 1915.

San Diego celebrates the breaking of ground for this Exposition on July 19, 1911.

That nothing shall be lacking in ceremony, circumstance or appropriate festivity four days have been set apart, from July 19 to July 22, inclusive, for a programme comprising details of historical pageantry, civic functions, religious ceremonies, under the direction of the Franciscan Fathers, by whom the Mission and Pueblo of San Diego were founded in July, 1769; a floral parade under supervision of the Women's Auxiliary of the Celebration Committee; an Industrial, Commercial and Fraternal Pageant; a water carnival, including the landing of Juan

Rodriguez Cabrillo from his caravel, and a display of fireworks; band concerts throughout the city; athletic events and water sports; two masque balls; and on the last day of the celebration a procession of the twenty-one Missions of California, with groupings of historical characters illustrative of the beginning of civilization on this western coast of the United States.

The basis of this celebration is historical, featuring the leading episodes from the discovery of the Pacific ocean by Vasco Nunez de Balboa in 1513 to the American occupation of San Diego in 1846.

Within this period is comprised the first great epoch of Californian and West Coast history; the second epoch will date from the raising of the American flag at Old Town of San Diego to the gold discovery and the coming of the Argonauts who founded the great commonwealth of California; the third epoch covers the development of the State and the Pacific Coast to the destruction of San Francisco in 1906; the fourth epoch begins with the rebuilding of the Californian metropolis, coeval with the first permanent development of San Diego, the marvellous progressive movement in Southern California, and the awakening of imperial enterprise throughout the Southwest; closing with the completion of the Panama Canal and the San Diego and Arizona railway, thus concentrating the traffic of a continent and the commerce of a great ocean in the harbor of San Diego, the nearest point on Pacific tidewater to the Middlewest and the Southern States and the first port of call in American territory north of the canal.

This celebration is the beginning of the series that will end in 1915 with the Panama-California Exposition.

It is fitting, therefore, that San Diego should make the occasion fully worthy of the event, not only because that event is to be the beginning of a new and glorious history, but because San Diego is herself destined to play a great part in this splendid history.

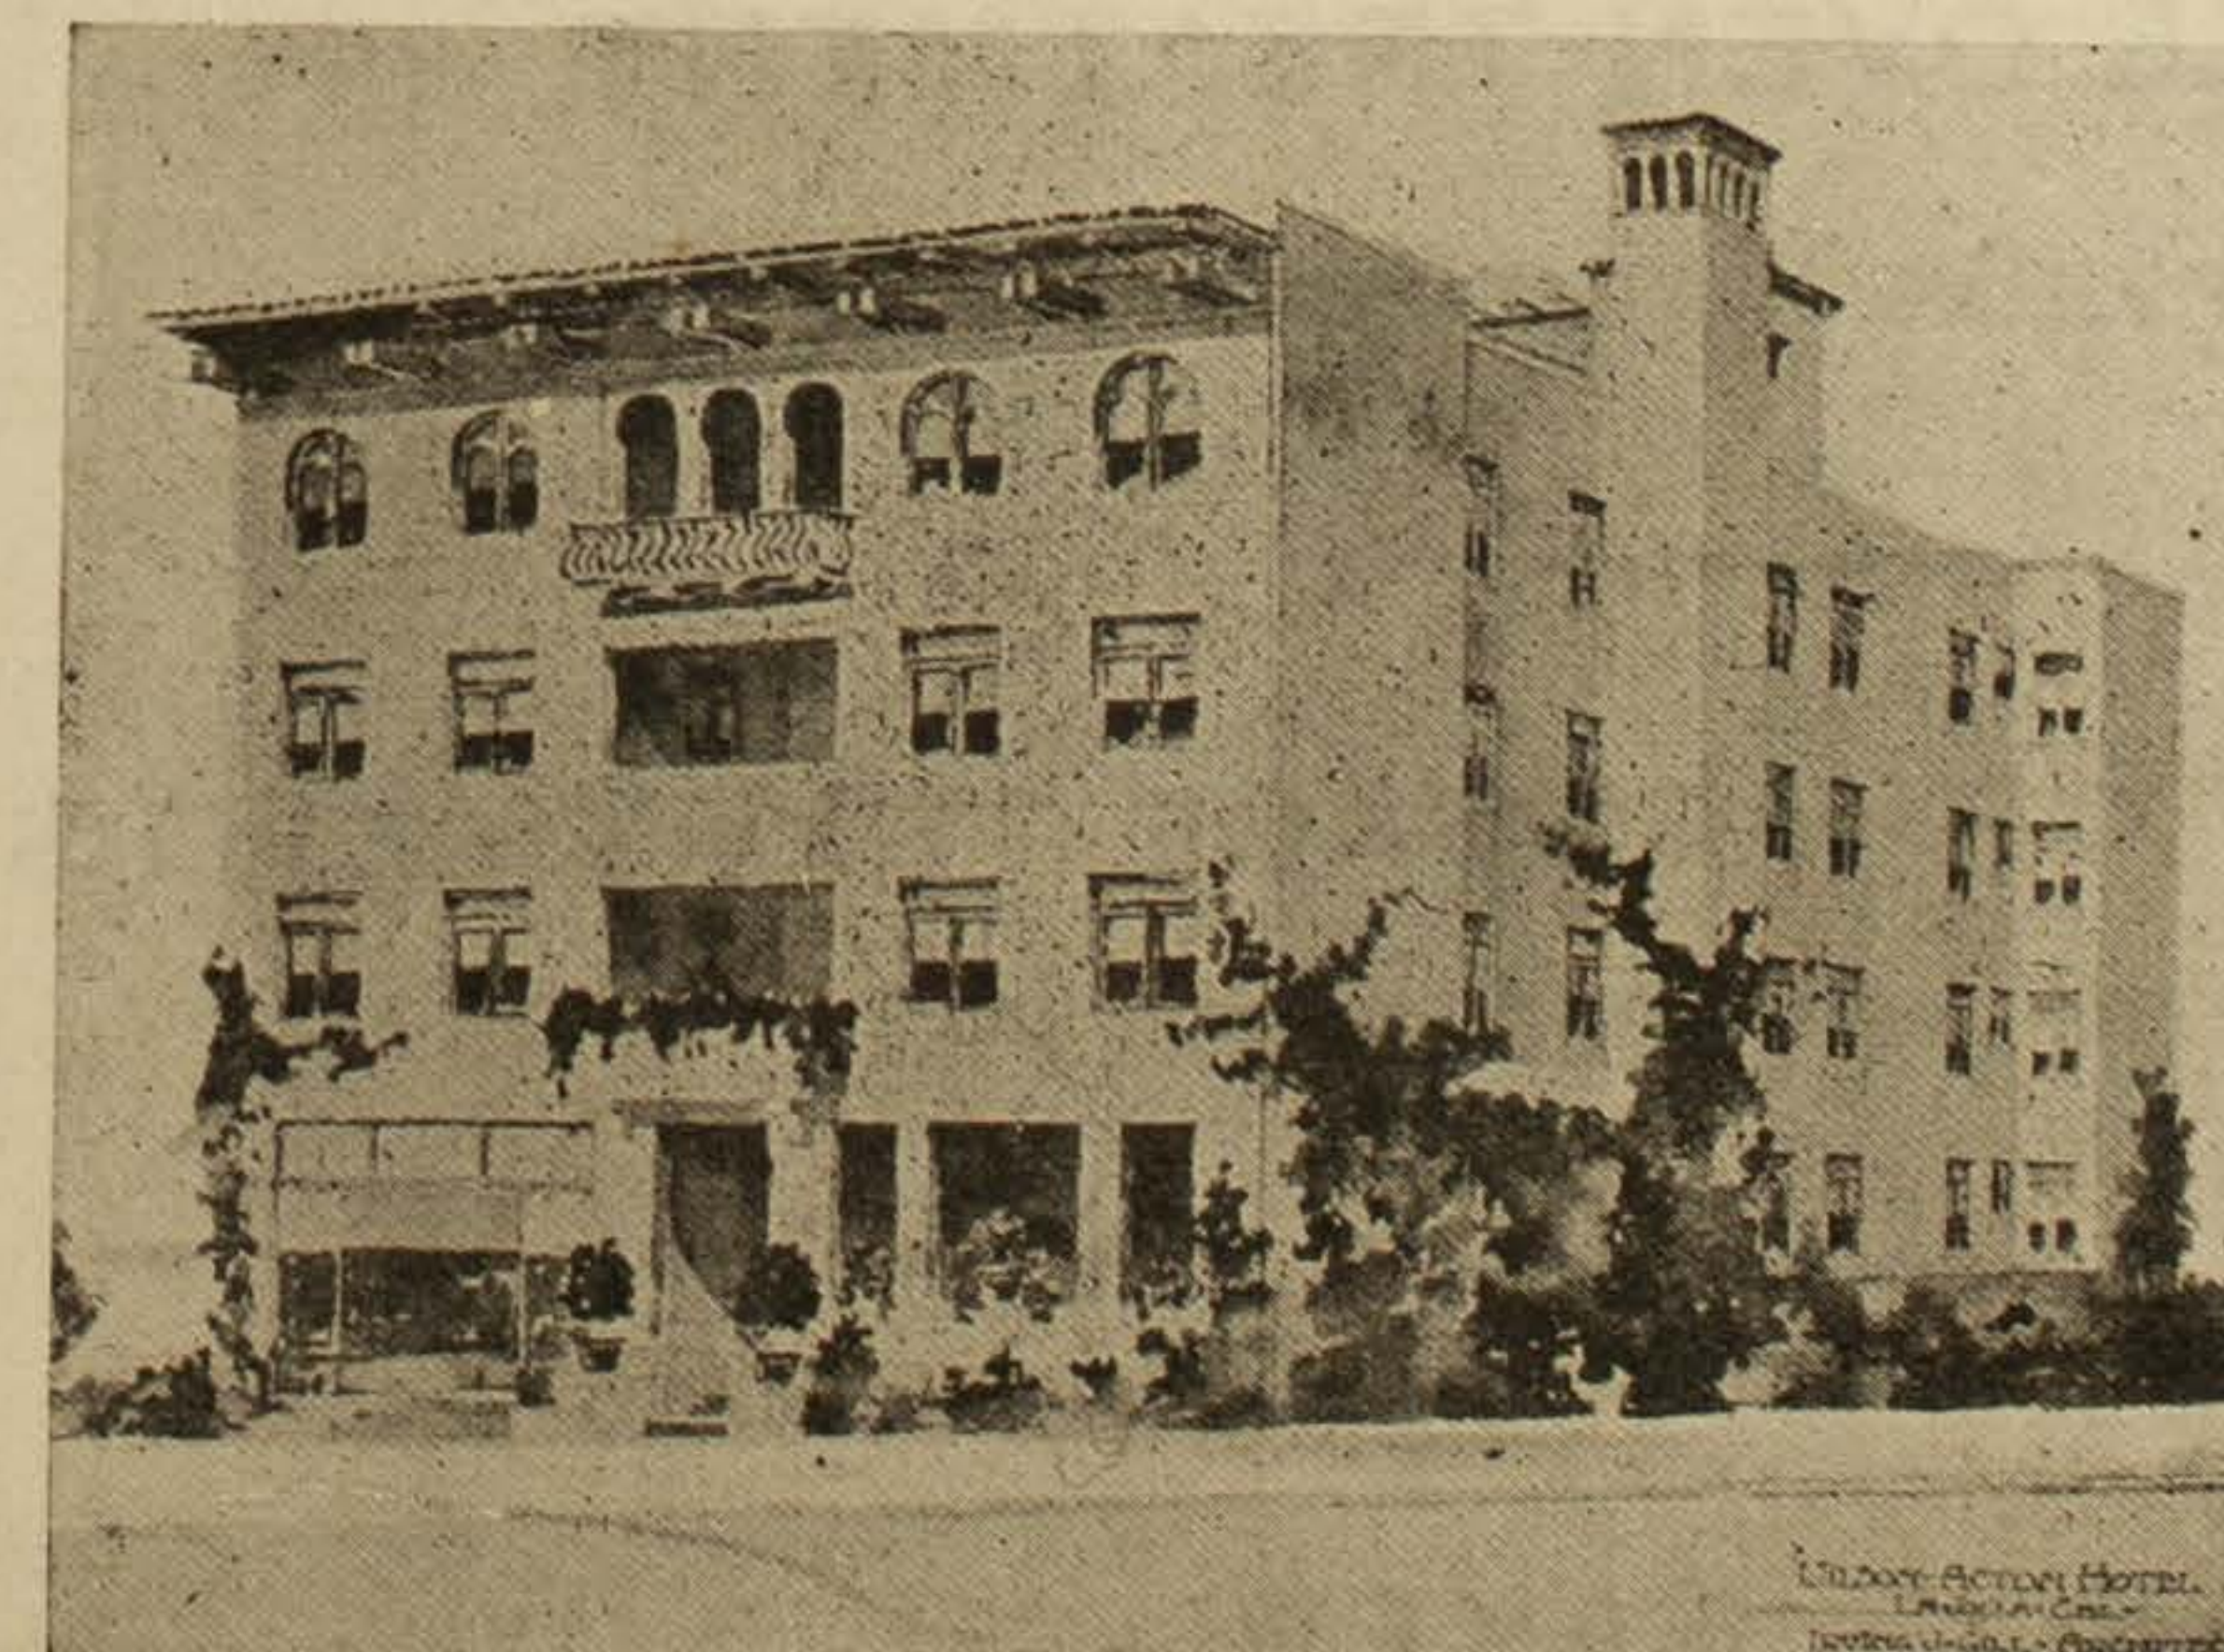

Remember Panama Exposition, San Diego.

The Toliver Dirigible Airship "San Diego"

Successful Navigation of the Air a Reality Inside the Next Thirty Days

This great, dirigible airship, embodying new and exclusive ideas, is rapidly nearing completion at the shipyards of the Toliver Aerial Navigation Company, at Thirty-first and B Streets, San Diego, California. It is 250 feet in length, 40 feet in diameter, has a carrying capacity of 40 passengers, and is constructed throughout of the finest materials. The motive power is supplied by four gasoline engines of the newest principles, all of Mr. Toliver's invention, delivered to six big aluminum propellers reinforced with steel. It is the only airship ever built which can rise and descend perpendicularly, thus minimizing the possibility of accident.

Within the next thirty days, the "San Diego" will be completed and ready for an initial flight that will astound the world.

Do not fail to see this great airship before you leave San Diego. Visitors welcome at all times. You are cordially invited to visit the shipyards of the company and see San Diego's newest and exclusive industry.

Why—pay the freight and enormous advertising bills of Eastern breweries? It's just a habit—be just to yourself—be loyal to California.

The Eyes of the World Are On San Diego Now and will be for the next five years at least: The 1915 Exposition, to be held here at that time, will bring hundreds of thousands of strangers to our city.

Thousands of them will buy property and become permanent residents.

Now: The Exposition is to be held in Balboa Park, a wonderful natural scenic park. Surrounding property adjoining the park will be in strong demand. Consequently the price will soar higher and higher as the demand becomes stronger. A few thousands invested judiciously now will no doubt be the means of making a number very wealthy in a few years' time. Are you going to be one of that number? If so, let us tell you of some exceptional buys available at this time. Don't postpone taking advantage of one of these opportunities, or you may lose the chance entirely. Remember there are only a few really good buys on the park available, and we have them.

PROLOGUE

The first of the Missions was dedicated at San Diego on July 16, 1769. The last Mission was founded at San Francisco de Solano, July 4, 1823. Ten years later the order of secularization was issued from the Mexican government, and the work begun by Junipero Serra sixty years before, was ended. The Pastoral Age of California, with its Arcadian simplicity, its gentle, civilizing Christianity, its semi-feudal regime and its paternal beneficence, had closed the record of its effort, its accomplishment and the self-sacrifice of the noble builders of the Franciscan Missions. Then began the Golden Age, the Second Epoch of Californian history. After that came the Age of Iron, and then the Age of Empire—the Last Act in the Great Drama which shall close the final effort of man's endeavor.

The Procession of the Missions

SAN DIEGO—

Spanish soldiers of the eighteenth century, Captained by Gaspar de Portola. Franciscans led by Padre Junipero Serra. Indians. A chorus of soldiers singing old Spanish military songs. A chorus of Franciscans singing the "Veni Creator", the music of the first mass sung in California.

EL CARMEL—

Named for San Carlos Borromeo, Italian Cardinal; Archbishop of Milan; canonized in 1610. The tableau is an Archbishop's court in the sixteenth century, under the banner of Milan.

SAN ANTONIO DE PADUA—

Antonio of Padua was born in Portugal; preached in France; and died in Italy. The group is costumed in the fashion of the thirteenth century, and the banners are of Portugal, France and Italy.

SAN GABRIEL ARCANGEL—

The Mission founded September 8, 1771, at Los Angeles by the Reverend Fathers Pedro, Benito, Cambon and Angel Fernandez de la Somera. The group is composed of young Californians, representative of the first families of Southern California in the days of the Dons long before the Gringo came.

SAN LUIS OBISPO—

Established September 1, 1772. Named in honor of St. Louis, Bishop of Toulouse. The tableau is costumed to show the early history of the Mission and includes Spanish caballeros, Indians and Padres, among whom is Padre Martinez who, like San Juan of Capistrano, was a fighting monk when fighting was necessary. It is related that this corpulent, jovial Father led a band of Californians and Indians to repel a threatened attack on the Mission by the famous pirate Bouchard.

SAN FRANCISCO DE ASIS—

This is the Mission that gave a name to the metropolis of California; dedicated to St. Francis, founder of the Franciscan Order, October 9, 1776, three months after the Declaration of Independence by the Thirteen Colonies. The tableau represents the founding of the Mission and the group includes Padres Cambon, Nosedal and Pena leading the procession. The soldiers are of Captain Gaspar de Portola's company.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO—

Founded November 1, 1776; named for Saint John the Captain; a warrior monk of the fifteenth century who led an army of Crusaders to the relief of Belgrade, besieged by Mohammed II and defended by Hunyadi the hero of Hungary. The tableau includes Capistrano in chain mail and the cowl of his Order; Crusaders, Hungarians and Turks.

SANTA CLARA—

This sisterhood of Les Clarisses was found in France in 1212. The Mission was dedicated January 18, 1777. The young women composing this group are from the Convent of St. Joseph. The fruits and flowers borne by the girls are symbolical of the agriculture and horticulture for which the Santa Clara Valley is famous.

SAN BUENAVENTURA—

Named for Giovanni de Fidenza, an Italian of the thirteenth century; surnamed "Dr. Seraphicus"; scholar, philosopher and theologian. The doctor is accompanied by a group of his pupils. The Indians and Franciscans are part of the early history of the Mission which was founded March 31, 1782.

SANTA BARBARA—

Santa Barbara was a virgin martyr of the third century. She was beheaded by her own father for refusing to renounce Christianity. She is the patron saint of armorers and artisans and the protectress of fortifications. She was of Greek origin and died in Bithynia. The Mission was founded December 4, 1786, and is the only one surviving from the ruin of the secularization; the only Mission at whose altar the lamps have never been extinguished.

LA PURISIMA CONCEPCION—

This tableau represents the industrial activities of the Mission which was established

December 8, 1787. The products of the Mission was agricultural entirely and the Indians were taught to be farmers and cattle raisers.

SANTA CRUZ—

This Mission was blessed by Father Lasuen on August 28, 1791, the day of San Augustin. It was the Mission of the Holy Cross. It was here that the first flour mill in California was built, and one of the first converts was Chief Seguert, head of the most powerful tribe in Central California.

LA SOLEDAD—

Dedicated to "Our Lady of Solitude," October 9, 1791. The Mission is presented here as it stands today—a naked, desolate ruin, casting its dismal shadow in a land rich enough to have preserved it from this sad fate; a warning and a reminder that other landmarks of our early history are passing into similar neglect and ruin.

SAN JOSE DE GUADALUPE—

The grape and olive were the special fruits of this Mission, which was founded June 11, 1797.

SAN JUAN BAUTISTA—

This Mission was founded June 24, 1797. The Mission had a chime of nine bells, and music was a feature of the establishment. It was here, too, that the first adobe bricks were made for building purposes. A peculiar feature of the Mission was the wooden clapper wheel used to call the people to worship on those days when the Catholic church rings no bells.

SAN MIGUEL ARCANGEL—

The Indians of this Mission, founded July 25, 1797, were taught by the Padres in the arts of painting and decorating, and much of the work of this kind preserved in the other Missions is from the atelier of the Mission of San Miguel.

SAN FERNANDO REY DE ESPAGNA—

Named for Ferdinand III of Spain (1220-1252), King of Castile and Leon; founded September 8, 1797. Ferdinand captured Ubeda, Cordova, Jaen and Seville from the Moors, who are led captive in this tableau.

SAN LUIS REY DE FRANCIA—

St. Louis of France was the ninth of that name and led the sixth Crusade in 1248. He captured Damietta and was himself defeated by the Sultan Tooranshah in an expedition against Cairo. He undertook a Crusade against Tunis during which he died. The Mission was founded June 13, 1798.

SANTA YNEZ—

The first Mission of the nineteenth century, founded September 17, 1804. The first official act of the establishment was the baptism of all the young Indians within the jurisdiction of the Mission.

SAN RAFAEL ARCHANGEL—

When this Mission was founded, December 18, 1817, the region of its establishment was beginning to be populated with an alien race of trappers, squatters and adventurers. It was here that the "Bear Flag" was raised in revolt against the domination of Mexico, which had only recently thrown off the yoke of Spain. At this time the Pastoral Age of California and the rule of the Spanish grandees was ending by usurpation of the Gringo, or by intermarriage with the Saxon invader.

SAN FRANCISCO DE SOLANO—

This was the last Mission founded by the Franciscan Fathers, August 25, 1823. The chief characters in the tableau are Commandante Vallejo, Lieutenant Martinez and General Fremont. They are accompanied by soldiers, settlers and Indians. The grouping is to embody the picturesque features of the final period of transition from the old Spanish regime to the American occupation.

San Diego's Wonderful Clock

This wonderful clock, with twenty dials, stands twenty-one feet high, and tells simultaneously the time of all nations; also the day of the week, date and month, and marks the seconds. Four of the dials are each four feet in diameter. The master clock is enclosed in plate glass, so that its every action can be seen, and the whole is illuminated every night. The clock is jeweled with tourmaline, topaz, agate and jade. The jewels and every part of this intricate mechanism were designed and made in our shop. It is the most completely jeweled, best finished and best made street clock in America, and the only clock of its kind ever built in a retail jewelry store in the world. The motive power is a 200-lb. weight, and it winds itself automatically. It took fifteen months to build, and cost about $3,000. The master clock was exhibited at the State Fair in Sacramento in 1907, and awarded a gold medal. Manufactured by J. Jessop & Sons.
